

Lenbrook Partners with Aerobiovac Canada Corp. to bring Aerobiotix Products to Canada

Delivering the best of HEPA and ultraviolet continuous air disinfection and filtration systems across Canada.

Pickering, ON, March 24, 2021- Today Lenbrook announces a new partnership with Aerobiovac, the Canadian Distributor of Aerobiotix® Inc. products. As the new Canadian Channel Partner, Lenbrook is excited to offer both GermZone® and Illuvia® air disinfection and filtration systems manufactured by Aerobiotix®. Lenbrook's strong relationship with resellers across a wide spectrum of verticals will help to get these products to the front lines and protect workers during the current global pandemic. This new range of products is currently the only technology that is scientifically tested on COVID-19 and is clinically proven to kill 100% of airborne SARS-CoV-2 (COVID-19) in a single pass.

The Aerobiotix products, GermZone® and Illuvia®, are patented and scientifically proven technologies that eliminate aerosolized viruses in single-pass testing. Both GermZone® and Illuvia® air disinfection systems are built to create safe environments attracting support from the Federal Economic Development Agency for Southern Ontario, recognizing the need and importance of these devices. Cambridge University Press has also recently published an article on the effectiveness of UV-C and the Aerobiotix technology against SARS-CoV-2.

“So many industries, including schools, healthcare, office spaces and sports & fitness are in need of this technology right now” says Ted Wiles, Vice-President & General Manager of Lenbrook Canada Solutions. “The Aerobiotix systems are the only ones of their kind available right now, and we want to help businesses thrive once again and do our part in stopping the spread of this virus”.

This new partnership between Lenbrook and Aerobiovac Canada is one of great importance in helping to get this necessary technology out to such a large scope of organizations. Getting businesses back up and running safely with long-term confidence is Lenbrook's mission. This new partnership will give Lenbrook's National Network of resellers access to powerful and “Best-in-Class” technology that is essential in helping to assist Canadians prevent the spread of COVID-19.
